

BMD 170712 AUK Forum

The AUK Forum was launched in April 2014 following a motion passed at the AGM in November 2013 to set up a members-only forum. To date 2,462 AUK members have registered with the forum, there are 979 topics and 10,475 posts. 2,132 forum members have never posted to the forum although they all have visited it on at least one occasion.

However, there are some boards and sub-boards within the forum which seen little or no activity since the introduction of the forum:

- ❖ 18 Boards
 - 5 of those boards have no posts in them
 - A further 3 boards have less than 10 posts
- ❖ 31 Sub-boards
 - 8 of those sub-boards have no posts in them
 - A further 13 sub-board have less than 10 posts

It is therefore proposed to rationalise the composition of the forum by deleting and/or amalgamating some of these boards and sub-boards to produce a more streamlined and easier to navigate layout. No posts will be deleted or edited during this operation and less than 1% of the total posts in the forum will be relocated into new amalgamated boards.

Martin Foley

9 July 2017